

17.2.2 Electron impact spectroscopies

The electron impact spectroscopies can be subdivided into Electron Scattering Spectroscopies in which the detected particles are electrons, and Electron-Induced Photon Emission Spectroscopies in which the detected particles are photons.